PRODUCTS TO MEET YOUR NEEDS

SUPPORTING CIRCULAR ECONOMY WITH CRADLE TO CRADLE CERTIFICATION

Choose from an expanded range of Cradle to Cradle Certified® products, ensuring safe materials that can flow back into future product cycles. While C2C Silver is an important certification for material health, it's just one part of Interface's larger sustainability journey. Our carbon negative carpet tiles, for example, go beyond C2C's energy and carbon requirements and our ReEntry™ recycling system exceeds the requirements for Material Circularity.

Our carbon negative products surpass the renewable energy and carbon criteria of Cradle to Cradle, further reducing the environmental impact of your designs.

FOCUSING ON MATERIAL HEALTH WITH CRADLE TO CRADLE

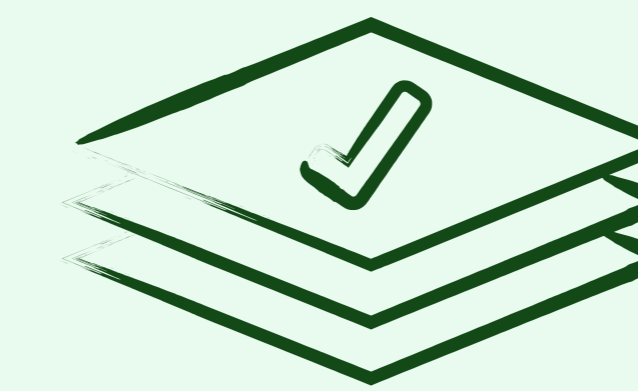

Cradle to Cradle Certification primarily focuses on ensuring that products are made with safe, healthy materials, which is critical in the design of interiors. While Cradle to Cradle includes several areas like renewable energy, water stewardship, and social fairness, the most substantial achievement for our certified products lies in meeting strict Material Health standards that go beyond even the low-VOC, high-biobased/recycled content, and rigorous chemical screening required for all Interface products.
